Benefits of a Quooker Boiling Water Tap

A Quooker consists of a kitchen tap on your worktop and a tank in your kitchen cupboard. Our customers who've ordered them are forever singing their praises! From removing the need for boiling water on the hob to instant hot water for cleaning, they have multiple benefits:

- ✓ Cold, hot and boiling water from the same tap.
- ✓ Can also provide chilled sparkling water when combined with a CUBE.
- ✓ Safer than a kettle and ideal for those seeking a clutter free kitchen.

Let's look at... Induction cooking

If you're thinking about a new kitchen, it's likely that you might also be thinking about making the switch from gas to induction cooking. The majority of our hobs are now induction based for the following reasons:

- Saves time when boiling and frying.
- Easier to care for and clean. Spilled food does not burn on as quickly.
- Heat control and safety: the hob increases or decreases the heat supply as soon as the user changes the setting. The induction hotplate stops the heat supply as soon as the cookware is removed from the hotplate, without having to switch it off first.

All four showrooms have working induction hobs: please ask for a demonstration during your visit.
